

Wider Western Civilization

Andrew K Twohig - Archon Philosopher

CENTRALITY OF THE WIDER WESTERN CIVILIZATION

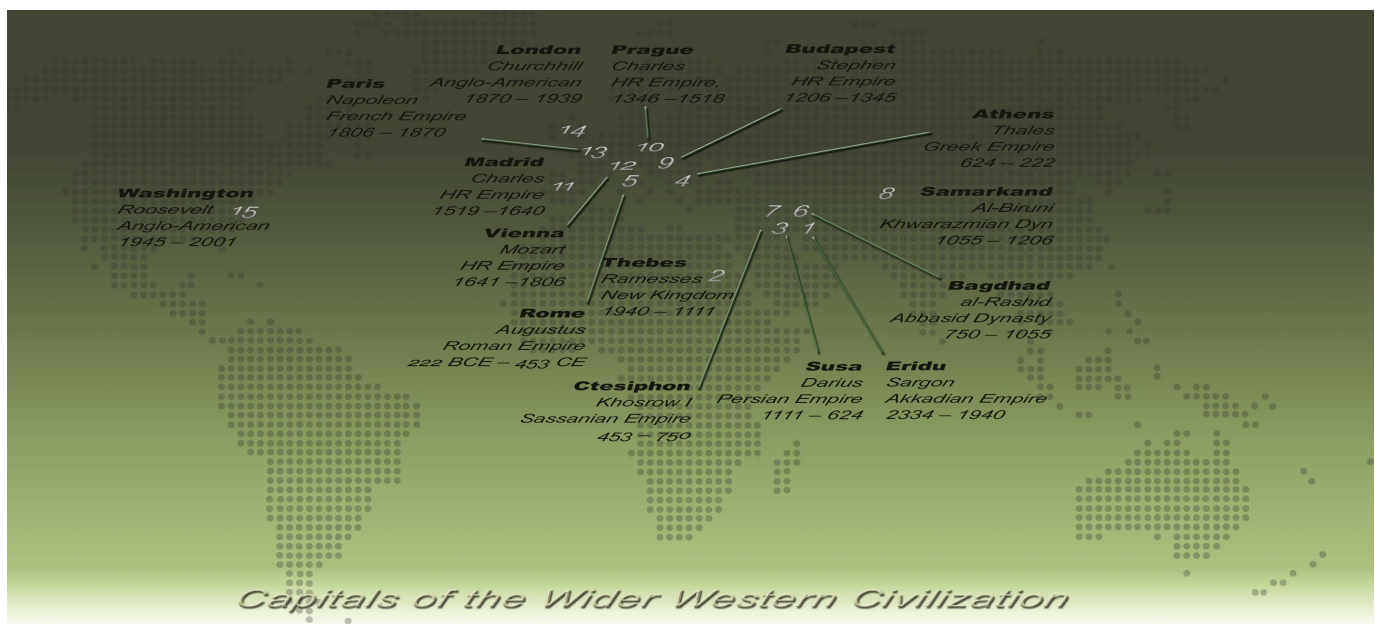

As at 2022, the primacy of the Wider Western Civilization in circumscribing human kind is ubiquitous and is not convincingly debatable. It thus becomes mysterious as to why one civilization, out of all the world's civilizations, should be so prominent in almost all aspects of importance to the world's people. These issues are not of cultural or moral stances, but rather of scientific, metaphysical, cosmological, and technological constructions. That is, in nearly every person's home in every country in the world one finds great investment in the products of modern science, especially those involving electricity; one finds teaching of big bangs and black holes in universities across the world, one sees space missions to the moon; one finds a smart phone in everyone's hands.

These and other features of nearly everyone on earth can be traced to intellectual and then practical breakthroughs that occurred within the Wider Western Civilization over the past 6,000 years. Firstly, the Wider Western Civilization encompasses the land and/or people from the eastern border of Persia, through Mesopotamia, up from Egypt, through Anatolia, Europe and its colonies. Within this hyper-ancient Civilization, we may identify sub-civilizations of Persian Civilization, Egyptian Civilization, Christendom, Islamic Civilization, European Civilization, American Civilization and others. The question arises whether Modern Civilization can be subsumed within the Wider Western Civilization, as non-Western civilizations are finally "coming into their own" and making full use of the scientific method and coupling this with a drive towards pure research. If so, then we are witnessing the formation of a uni-civilization, a world-wide revelation; this unifying trend may be in the interest of the Archons in terms of long-term expectations.

As a diversion and thought experiment, one may consider 6,000 years in terms of the life-span of my father who is nearly 100 years old. Thus, from the most rustic, small communities of ancient times to today is only 60 life spans, one life span for each second in one minute. It is discussed elsewhere as to a potential reason for the Archon's interest in humans and mentoring humans; but a side effect of seeking to gain sufficient information and understanding that humans and perhaps all the Archons themselves overshoot the mark and become “unstoppable” in terms of cognitive abilities and technological prowess. This prowess and awareness of the controlled environment of earth present dangers, one of which is the potential for a human cargo cult reaction.

Thus, we may think of the Wider Western Civilization as a pumping and priming towards specific breakthroughs for the sentient human creatures to arise and arrive at plateau after plateau, some desirable some not. In this movement, there are factors affecting the direction. We may speculate as to specific causes of the downfalls of the various capital cities of the Wider Western Civilization over the course of its 6,000 year old history. It is likely that a combination of forces effect the rise and fall of these centers of power. Parallel undercurrents of human awareness run alongside the coalescing of the economic, military, political, technological, artistic, and cultural powers that loosely have defined each of the capitals within the Wider Western Civilization.

Nearly all of these capital cities suffered total destruction when the move took place, symbolizing a destruction that encapsulates the idea “nothing fails like success”. Some of these forces may also reflect the Law of Unintended Consequence as it reveals its working-out in the world. Other forces that may contribute or delay the demise of center of attention would be the morphing of the Field of Experience itself, or the effect of some various metaphysical fields.
